'WE ARE THEY'

Harry W. Clark, head of Texas Industrial Commission and eminent among the nation's industrial development experts, hit the nail on the head Tuesday in closing remarks of a highly successful Town Meeting-Economic Clinic here.

He pointed out that we (each of us) identify with our favorite team on the gridiron, though we (each one of us) do not carry the ball or coach in the game, we say, when the game is over, "we" won or "we" lost. It is "our" team. His graphic illustration followed an earlier comparison that said, in effect, "we are they" when we speak of someone's success or failure for a town. "They" didn't want this or that, or "they" didn't do something.

Capable after capable speaker emphasized that "you," people, are a town, not the brick and mortar, not the streets, not the trees or the sky above.

"You can do what you want to do," said another speaker. "You are what you want to be," said still another.

"Who are you?" queried Mr. Clark.

At some time, certainly, "we are they."

106-106-106

If exposure to able counsel, advice from great technical capacity, is a hallmark for community development, Cameron shared it with Texas' first industrial string Tuesday. And townspeople watched and listened in numbers. About 160 people attended the second Town Meeting and from 40 to 75 people coming and going, listened to individuals and panels of speakers for five hours during the day.

This was of some surprise to Cameron's guests and perhaps a surprise to Cameron itself. Regardless, there was a rapport all through the day, an understanding throughout, that spelled out new community confidence in local ability to meet the competition of other towns in this part of the state.

Pictures of various civic and business improvements were in abundant display along one side of Methodist Fellowship Hall. Plans, proposals or models of the new library, the new airport, a new downtown, and a new 65-bed hospital were on display. They told a great deal of the success that is already Cameron's and of a willingness to seek what is best in a competitive environment of town vs. town and area vs. area. Kudos to all.

Board Hires Five Teachers, Principal's

Post Still Vacant

School trustees hired five new teachers in the Cameron school system, but applications are still being accepted for a Yoe High principal and special education instructor, according to Supt. D. S. Dodson.

Action took place during a regular meeting of the board last Thursday.

School principals Dr. Herman Brown and Albert Whiteside reported school enrollments at 1,525. Yoe High School listed 389 students, Ada Henderson School 478, Ben Milam 243 and O. J. Thomas 415.

Teachers employed were Mrs. Betty Stevens, Ada Henderson; George Jackson, Juanita F. Boyd, Ralph Alexander and Orlean Keith, all O. J. Thomas instructors.

In connection with the school improvement program, Supt. Dodson said that all windows have been installed in Yoe High School that will be done at this time, and seven more units will be installed in Ada Henderson School.

He said plans are being finalized for application of funds under the elementary and secondary act of 1965.

New Library Hours

The Cameron Public Library will change to their winter schedule beginning Tuesday, Sept. 21, according to Mrs. Tom Wardlaw, librarian.

The library will be open 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. on Saturday. The library is closed all day Monday.

on Americanism given by Rev. Lafferty. Yoe High Agriculture students prepared the concrete base and Mack's Oil Company provided the pipe. The pole and flag were dedicated in ceremonies before the Cameron-Marlin football game Friday night.

Major Improvement Plans Announced By Caperton

Plans for construction of a new hospital and school and park beautification project were announced Tuesday by Narvie Caperton when he outlined plans for continued growth and improvements at the Town Meeting.

Caperton, chairman of the Cameron Industrial Foundation, said, "The Cameron Industrial Foundation has been chartered, new officers elected, various committees formed and by-laws adopted." A fund raising drive is in the process of being organized.

NEW IMPROVEMENTS

He noted that a new project to begin in the near future is the construction of a new 65-bed St. Edward Hospital. The building plans show the hospital will be constructed south of the new convent.

Working toward community improvement, Caperton said Mayor Bassel Wilson and the City Council have applied for assistance in the amount of $6,400 from the State of Texas to improve the Cameron parks. Plans are being made to dredge and deepen the Wilson - Ledbetter lake, and make repairs on all buildings in the park. In the city park 24 benches, 12 tables and 4 barbecue grills and rest-rooms will be built if the application is approved.

A new building program for St. Anthony School is also being planned.

PROJECTS UNDERWAY

An $80,000 Cameron Public Library will soon be a reality and bids will be awarded Friday (Sept. 17) at 2 p.m., Caperton said.

A new 3200 foot, paved, lighted run-way will give Cameron one of the most modern up-to-date airports in Texas and construction has begun in that field. He commended the City Fathers for their work in acquiring funds for the airport project, and for State Rep. Milton Schiller's work in passing the bill for airport improvements.

Construction of 50 new housing units has been agreed upon by the Public Housing Agency after being presented by the City Council to the local Housing Authority Board.

MASTER PLAN

The architect who was employed by the local housing board for the new construction, has agreed to furnish the City a master or comprehensive plan without cost. This will be a saving to the City of some $7,000.

Improvements in the downtown area will have to be sponsored by the City of Cameron and the City Council is now in the process of appointing a Citizen Advisory Board to work with the council on city improvements. The group will be composed of ten members eight of whom have been appointed.

School improvements noted were: new Yoe High gym floor, new windows in portions of Yoe High, Ada Henderson, new complete modern science lab underway, reading lab, new classroom at St. Anthony.

NEW BUSINESSES

New business added since the last Town Meeting is Sears and Roeback Co and new building by John Deere Agency, owned by Coleman Duncan, Kemp-Rogers property purchased by Anderle Lumber Co. and Schiller Motors for improvements, Cliff Weise of Calvert has purchased International Harvester Agency. This implement company will occupy a large metal building on highway 36 adjoining the Cameron Machine Shop. The new manager will be Tommy Corley.

A resume of recent improvements include: a new Colonial Nursing Home, new topping on 22nd Street from Highway 77 east to the Cameron Country Club, Warren Rinn has purchased the New Cameron Pharmacy and plans to remodel the front of the building, renovation underway at new site for Schigut Dept. Store, remodeling of building adjacent to Schigut's by Albert Hajovsky to house his Western Auto Store, expansion completed at Eastern Seed Co., Mack's Liquid Fertilizer Company completed, Milam Motel expanded and added swimming pool and playgrounds.

Rosser . . .

. . . Utilize Assets

Howard W. Rosser, manager of Tourist Development for the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, described how the tiny town of Winnboro in East Texas started six years ago with a $15 budget and some mimeographed route maps and developed an autumn trail-ride tour through the woods of that area. It has now become a big attraction, with thousands of visitors each fall.

He told of various ways of using your local facilities and land marks in developing the tourist potential in the Cameron area, following up ideas presented by Godfrey.

Many Cameron women from civic and garden clubs attended the early morning session in order to learn ways in which their organization could be beneficial in developing the beauty spots of Cameron and the Milam area.

Fire Destroys Home On East 7th Street

Cameron volunteer firemen were called to a fire last Thursday that gutted a house at 507 East 7th, according to John Andres, new fire marshal.

The house was vacant at the time and is owned by E. J. Burke. Andres said the floor was being cleaned with gasoline at the time of the fire and it is believed that someone unplugged the refrigerator and a spark ignited the gas.

Damage was estimated from $5,000 to $6,000. The roof and walls were completely destroyed.

TIC Clinic Poses 3 Problem Areas

Stanphill . . .

. . . Downtown Area

Coy Stanphill, manager of Community development for Texas Power and Light Co., opened his address with the startling statement "What this town needs is a good, big fire in the business district."

Clarifying his statement, he said that it is a commonplace statement he has heard in many towns of this area.

"The answer to our downtown problem lies not with fire, storm and funeral, but with the people themselves", Stanphill explained.

He said that in any plan to improve a downtown area, non-resident property owners and others who don't want to co-operate are big obstacles. But when the majority of the people of the town want to get it done badly enough and work hard enough on it, it can be done despite these obstacles.

Showing slides of places who had beautified their downtown area, he said these projects were originated with groups of local people much like the group that is trying to get started in Cameron.

"The answer to your downtown problems lies with the people," he stressed.

Bradley . . .

. . . Ups Payroll

James R. Bradley, head of the industrial research division at Texas A&M University, told Rotary and Lion Club members at the noon luncheon, the necessity of good leadership for any movement in a community to attract industry.

"Industrial development," he said, "is anything that adds payrolls to your community." This includes manufacturing, wholesale, retail, service, agriculture, tourists and governmental installations.

He said the greatest potential, industrial wise, is small fabricating plants along with the expansion of the industry we have got in our own backyard, and no longer just cotton, cattle and oil.

A recent survey showed the 9.4 per cent of the plants and 18.7 per cent of the employees come from relocations of industry, while 8.8 of the plants and 25 per cent of the employees come from branch plants. But 61.8 per cent of the plants and 56.3 per cent of the employees come from industries started within the community, he said.

Kelly . . . TIC

Best Candidates

"Feasibility is the operation of an industry at a profit and is the second most important locational factor," James J. Kelly, assistant executive director of TIC, noted.

Research provides the data to show that operations can be conducted at a profit, he said, and there are two important elements in regard to research: it must be kept current and it must be prepared in presentable form.

Industry is classified generally into two groups as to source of development, the home grown industry and the footloose. Economists estimate that 85 per cent of the plants presently locating new factories are the footloose variety (one freed from its former dependence and can locate where it will) and thus represent the best candidates for industry which might locate in Cameron.

"The best candidates it would seem for Cameron would be found among the three following: the food industry, furniture and fixtures and fabricated metals products," Kelly said.

Downtown, Sites, Basic City Needs

State experts in industrial development narrowed Cameron's basic problem areas down to three phases when they presented a summary of the findings of Tuesday's all-day economic Development Clinic at the Town Meeting.

About 160 Cameron civic leaders attended the night meeting to hear what the people here need to do to get this town rolling toward some new industries.

Harry W. Clark, Executive Director of Texas Industrial Commission, said the TIC executives and utility industrial leaders found the three problem areas to be:

1. Sites
2. Research and Analysis
3. Financing.

Coy Stanphill, manager of community development, Texas Power & Light Company, said, "Sites are basic problems and if there is no suitable site, there is no way for a plant to locate in Cameron." The ideal site is not land that is no good for anything else, he said. Land can become a site when there are highways nearby, secondary roads, railroads, level and well drained, good soil bearing and has utility lines.

"The sites in Cameron can stand some more investigation," Stanphill recommended. "Unless there is a site there cannot be a plant."

COMMUNITY RESEARCH

A community's developments become prime factors in its drive for new industries, Clark noted. "Many towns within a 200 mile radius of Cameron have the same advantages of Cameron such as railroads, highways and land, so the fine point narrows down to 'Community organization' for industrial growth."

Larry S. Milner, Industrial Development Consultant, TIC, stressed community organization and said, "A community is simply people. You are Cameron, Texas, working together to improve the life of Cameron and to get more out of life. You must have unity, work together, build a good business climate and develop sites. Who does that? You and I, nobody else. Don't let 'George' do it. 'They' never have done a thing, but you can."

Milner outlined that the Chamber of Commerce is the engineer, the Industrial Foundation is the wheel and needs money to finance its work.

"You must support it as a group with funds and enthusiasm," he said. The industrial team, made up of leaders in the community, are basic and must sell your community. When you get a good team going, keep them, and the rest of the community must be behind them and support its efforts. They cannot accomplish miracles overnight, the average community takes five years to get industry," Milner urged.

FACE LIFTING

"Look at your downtown area," John Perryman, director area development, Lone Star Gas Company, said when he spoke on the third problem area.

"No community is perfect and I have yet to find one that has everything. Some have more advantages. Look at your downtown area as a visitor and if there is something you don't like, put your shoulder to the wheel and get with it," Perryman told the town group.

"You have a wonderful start, those who have made improvements really show. A city can clean up anything they desire, but the wishes must come from the people."

He stressed the fact that residents want their children to come back to Cameron after college and "there must be something inviting for them to come back to."

A panel discussion followed the presentation of Cameron's problems. Those appearing on the panel along with those selected to give the three presentations were James Kelly, Don Raburn, T. A. Blaske and Olin Humphries.

Growth Depends On Merchandising

T. A. Blaske, manager industrial development department, Santa Fe Railroad; Olin Humphries, industrial agent, Southern Pacific Railroad and Larry S. Milner, industrial development consultant, TIC, hit upon the problem of industrial sites in Cameron during the one-day clinic.

Their topics covered one that was termed to be one of the three problem areas in Cameron: Sites. Blaske stressed the merchandising, saying the first step is to have "something to sell." A conservative land survey to determine what property may be available for industrial development was suggested.

Price can be a major area that will destroy an industry's interest in this community quicker than anything else. "To hold him up," so to speak.

"Building industrial development is definitely a merchandising job," he said, "and communities must welcome industry just as it would a customer in one of its local retail stores.

Eight points the men noted that are listed by national industries for suitable plant sites: 1. A realistic and progressive attitude on the part of the City toward its own growth and sensible planning to accommodate such growth. 2. Honest and efficient City government and an intelligent and well-informed citizenry. 3. A healthy relationship between employees and management. 4. An ample supply of skilled, unskilled, technical and clerical workers. 5. Fair wages and working conditions. 6. Ample community services such as schools, hospitals, hotels and recreational facilities. 7. Enough social and cultural institutions and activities to attract high-level personnel. 8. A healthy business citizenship, favorable taxes, good industrial climate, with local leaders participating in civic and political affairs.

First TIC Clinic

Draws Cameron, State Leaders

Industrial and tourist development experts came from all over the state Tuesday to help the Cameron leaders get ideas on what needs to be done here.

The one-day Economic Development Clinic, conducted by the Texas Industrial Commission in cooperation with the Cameron Chamber of Commerce, was the first such clinic held by the TIC. The TIC officials plan more in other communities soon.

Forrest Sapp, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said the TIC officials were highly impressed with the large group of citizens who attended the all-day programs.

About 60 persons went on the bus tour of Cameron and the day programs drew from 80 to 100 persons. About 160 interested citizens attended the Town Meeting Tuesday night.

Most of the experts at Tuesday's clinic advised the local people to look Cameron over critically and honestly, spotting things that would make it unattractive to a new industry, then get organized to improve those things. (See speakers comments separate stories this page.)

Perryman . . .

. . . City Rated

John W. Perryman, director of area development for Lone Star Gas Co., showed slides of things industrial prospects look for and passed out rating sheets for the audience so they could rate our town.

When representatives of industry visit a town they look at: highways, streets, schools, churches, downtown business fronts, police and recreation facilities.

The score sheet itemized places for rating Cameron's Chamber of Commerce, utilities, city budget, fire department, and religious facilities, business climate, tax structure, bonded debt, city hall medical facilities, apartments and motel.

And general appearance, industrial sites, zoning and residential planning and development.

Godfrey . . .

. . . Tourism Potential

Sam Godfrey, chief of community relations for the Texas Tourist Development Agency, said tourism is one of the biggest industries developing in Texas now.

Tourists left $600 million in Texas last year and the figures for 1965 will be even higher, he said.

"Any community that wants its share of the big tourist business must begin now, planning proper development of what it has and planning intelligent promotion," Godfrey said.

He related that small towns were taking advantage of their rich historical past and were building tourist attractions around buildings, and beauty spots.

"Success and prosperity are going to come to those who see them out and work for them, not those who wait passively for such good things to happen. Money spent for tourist promotion is an investment in prosperity," Godfrey added.

Kunz Named KC District Deputy

A Cameron man, Charles W. Kunz, has accepted an appointment in the statewide organization of the Knights of Columbus, Dr. Joseph G. Murphy head of the Catholic order in Texas, announced here today.

Dr. Murphy said Kunz had been named a district deputy in the fraternal organization and, as such, would supervise the activities of a number of councils in the Cameron area.

Local Store Included In Birthday Celebration For J. C. Penney

James Cash Penney will observe his 90th birthday on Thursday, Sept. 16, and the "party" will be anything but small and intimate.

More than 36,000 associates in the nearly 1,700 Penney department stores throughout the country will participate in observances of Mr. Penney's birthday.

Cameron Store Manager J. C. Friesenhahn said that each Penney store including the one here will have an appropriately decorated cake. Candles on each cake will be lighted at a time coinciding with a similar ceremony taking place at 3 p.m. (EDT) at the Company's Central Office in New York City.

As Mr. Penney nears the nine-generation mark, his major interest continues to be in the Company he founded back in April, 1902, when he opened his first store in the frontier mining town of Kemmerer, Wyo.

Mr. Penney's conviction that the Golden Rule is just as applicable in business as it is in one's personal life continues to be a guiding principal behind the operation of the Penney stores, Mr. Friesenhahn said.

While Mr. Penney has not been involved for many years in direct management of the firm bearing his name, he continues to serve on the board of directors. And he exerts an inspirational influence on associates that cannot be measured, according to Manager Friesenhahn.

Mr. Penney has an office on the 45th floor of the firm's new Manhattan Central Office, known as the J. C. Penney Building, and the office is for more than "show." When he is in New York—which is most of the year, the soon-to-be nonagenarian comes into the office almost each day of the work week to conduct his business.

Visitors in the building are frequently amazed to find themselves in the company of the spry and alert founder. That J. C. Penney is an individual as well as a Company surprises many people.

As the Company founder has grown older, his interest in the young and opportunities for them has grown more intense. Says Mr. Penney:

"The chances for success are so much better today than they were when I was starting out. For a young man or woman with a college education and the right attitude, there is no telling how far he or she can go."

Gas was first commercially produced and consumed in Texas at Corsicana in 1901.

POWER POTENTIAL IN CHURCH GOING

This picture, showing all hands working together to beautify their church is a sales talk. The Church needs new members constantly, and it needs support to function properly. Give to it with attendance, work, material goods and it gives back proportionately.

But this is not a sales talk for a great plant, beauty, comfort entertainment and so on. Rather it is a sales talk for the greatest, that all-important, thing it has to offer — he supplying of spiritual needs, God's presence in its fellowship and the common service in His name.

It can never be foretold what great things may happen when one goes to church. The church is filled with marvelous powers, which if properly contacted have the potential of revolutionizing your life. The lives of many people bear testimony to this. It is a good plan to enter a church with a sense of expectancy — and the more you expect the more you will receive.

Yoemen, Ducks To Test Strength At 8 Friday

Grid Battle To Highlight Action

By L. E. Sapp

The Cameron Yoemen will be trying for Duck soup this Friday when they host the Taylor eleven at 8 p.m. at Yoe Field.

Both teams have two wins behind them and a touted battle is expected making the game one of the 2-A highlight grid actions in Central Texas.

Coach Raymond Haas' Ducks, state Class AA semifinalists last year, defeated the Yoemen in bidistrict play on their way toward the title. However, they have lost all-state halfback Rodney Marek and 16 other talented gridders.

But the Taylor team has shown much strength and speed this season flanked by fullback Jimmy Moechel and halfback Kenny Baldwin. Another speedy halfback is Leroy Kolinek.

Last week Taylor squeaked by Rockdale 18-13, but it wasn't easy. An equally exciting game is on tap for this Friday.

DUCKS TERMED FAST

"The Taylor Ducks are real tough and have lots of speed," Cameron Coach George Kirk said. "Our boys are in real good physical condition and have been playing a good game of defense," he added.

The Yoemen have had one injury, halfback Doug McFarland, who will be out of action this week. He suffered a bruised hip during the Marlin game.

YOE DEFENSE

Cameron's defensive combination will have Wayne Kirk, 166, and Don Manley at corner line-backer, tackles Hosch and Mikulec, guards Mueck and Rose, line-backers Ray Urban, 153, and McDaniel, halfback Burnett and Bill Goeke, 136, and safety, Mack McKinney. Jack McKinney is also slated to see some defensive playing. Glenn Fogle will be brought up from the B-team for some defensive action, Kirk said.

Coach Haas had 33 boys on his traveling squad and will run almost complete new offense and defense units. Only one gridster that plays on the offensive lineup is listed as a defensive starter.

With the help of six transfer players from Price High School, the Taylor Ducks chances for a return season as last year's 13-1 record has brightened.

Seven lettermen, including three starters, have returned with Mohel, Baldwin and Barron. However, the Price players went to state class AA semifinals in the Negro Interscholastic League race last year and had several outstanding stars.

In the backfield will be quarterback Bobby Clark, 155, left halfback Kenny Baldwin, 170, fullback Jimmy Mohel, 180, and right halfback Leroy Kolinek, 165. Fullback Donnie Zachary, 163, and speedster Marcus Heierman are also expected to see offensive action.

Reichenbach is the only player who will also play on the starting defensive unit.

Milano Eagles Host

Jarrell, Seeking

First Season Win

The Milano Eagles will be looking for their first win Friday when they host Jarrell at Eagle Field.

In their opening game they fell to the Buckholts Badgers 44-36. The Badgers, paced by Calvin Shenkir and Don Gresak, showed the championship form that carried them to a regional six-man championship last year.

They scored in all four quarters while giving up tallies to Milano in three of the four quarters.

Shenkir opened the scoring for the Badgers when he went 12 yards to pay dirt in the first period. Gresak's 62-yard touchdown dash later in the period highlighted the night's scoring.

Milano added to the scoring highlights in the first period when Larry Wadlington hit for 62 yards and a touchdown.

The Milano six outgained the Badgers with 357 yards rushing and 80 yards passing for six first downs. The Badgers had 285 yards rushing, 96 yards passing for four first downs.

Milano completed eight of 17 attempted passes while the visitors had six for 12. Both teams intercepted two passes while Milano had three fumbles lost and Buckholts 2. The Eagles had 8 penalties for 55 yards while Buckholts had 3 for 15.

Cameron Defense Holds Marlin Bulldogs 28-6

Headed by Cameron's "M Squad", the Yoemen continued their rushing offense and moved to a 28-6 victory over the highly-ranked Marlin team here Friday night.

Quarterback Mack McKinney, fullback Mike "Bull" McDaniel and halfback Jack McKinney put the tallies on the scoreboard for the Yoemen.

McDaniel and Mack McKinney scored two touchdowns and accounted for almost all of the Yoemen's rushing yardage.

Jack McKinney, brother to the quarterback, gained more prominence into becoming Cameron's "Golden Toe" as he put the ball through the uprights after each touchdown. The four good conversions gave him a record of eight out of nine attempts during the first two games of the season.

Accurate and speedy footwork on the part of the quarterback accounted to 176 yards on nine carries while 194 pound McDaniel plowed through the Marlin line for 99 yards on 20 carries.

Line Opens Way

The Yoemen's offensive line opened some gaping holes for the backfield which also had the running talents of halfback Don Manley, James Hoskins, Forrest Green and Doug McFarland.

Yoe's defense, led by line-backer Wayne Kirk, tackle James Hosch and end Newton Burnett, held Marlin's seasoned halfback Larry Lawless to 50 yards on 16 carries.

Cameron scored in the first, second and twice in the fourth period while Marlin got its lone touchdown in the second quarter.

The Yoemen scored the first time they got the ball. Taking the ball on the kickoff, the Yoemen moved 81 yards in 15 plays after Leo Michalka returned the kickoff to the 19.

YOE SCORE

McDaniel went off right tackle for the last five yards to pay dirt and McKinney added the PAT.

Marlin got its TD move going after Lawless recovered a Cameron fumble at the Cameron 28. Quarterback Jim Rogers and Lawless carried the ball in short drives to the three where Lawless went around left end for the TD. Marlin's attempt to run for two points was no good.

On the third play from scrimmage, following the kickoff, McKinney's teammates threw the blocks while he swerved through the line and broke loose for a 69 yard touchdown run. Jack McKinney's kick brought the score to 14-6 at halftime.

PASSING ATTACK

Marlin took primarily to the air in the third period but their passing attack was squelched by the Yoemen defense.

Cameron B-Team, Freshman Meet

Taylor Tonight

Cameron's B-team will be trying for their second win Thursday night while the freshman team will take to the field the first time this season when they travel to Taylor.

Game time for the freshman game is 6 p.m. and the B-team game is at 7:30 p.m.

In Cameron's B-team grid action last Thursday the local eleven won over Rosebud 28-0.

Cameron touchdowns were scored by Glenn Fogle, James Dohnalik, Paul Chandler and Johnny McLaren. Fogle also scored two points on a conversion and John Fuller added two more on his run for extra points.

With only two minutes remaining in the third quarter, Jack McKinney intercepted a pass intended for Rogers at the Bulldog's 26 to set up the third Yoe score.

McDaniel, Hoskins, Manley and McKinney moved the ball to the 12 where Mack McKinney skirted around right end on a keeper. Marlin's offense was unable to move once again and Cameron took over on its own 38. Twelve plays later they reached pay dirt for the final time when McDaniel plunged the last eight yards for the TD. Jack McKinney's conversion wrapped up the game's scoring.

OUTDOOR TIPS

For Livelier Worms

To keep an earthworm alive longer, while on the hook, try hooking it under the breeding band and out through its head, rather than through the body. So hooked it also will attract more fish.

For Smoother Knots

When you tie a monofilament leader to your nylon line, put a drop of clear fingernail polish on the knot. When it dries, put on another drop. You'll discover that this will cause the line to slip easily through the rod guides, just as if there was no knot at all.

Football Action

Buckholts' Badgers will be looking for their second win Friday when they host Cherokee at Badger field.

In their opening game of the season, they defeated Milano 44-36. The game displayed the good form which could give them a champions last year.

Veteran back Calvin Shenkir, all-district star last season, is leading the backfield with Tommy Gresak at the other halfback slot, quarterback veteran Don Glaser adds his speed in the backfield.

At end is Larry Kudlacek, another returning Buckholts all-league pick, with either senior James Jannis or junior Larry Shenkir sharing the other end duty. Frankie Tomascik, another returning letterman, fills the center slot.

Other squadmen seeing action this season are Joe Brady, Dennis Tomascik, Steve Matthews, Kenneth Marek, Terry McNeil and Robert Davis.

1965 ROGERS EAGLES

Rosebud Rallies Over Rogers 12-6

Rogers Eagles will enjoy an open date this Friday after failing at the hands of the Rosebud Black Panthers last Friday.

The Eagles and Panthers fought it out to a 12-6 with Joe Marek pacing the Rosebud eleven.

Marek, a big 205 pound running back, repeatedly ripped into the Rogers line picking up 177 yards in 19 carries leading the Panthers to their first victory of the season.

Rogers wasted little time in getting on the scoreboard and nursed a 6-0 lead until the third period when Marek broke loose.

The Eagles recovered a Rosebud fumble which set up the ball on their own 49 yard line. With a fourth and four facing them from the Rosebud 45, Mike Hayfield took the snap on a fake punt and threaded 26 yards down to the Black Panther 19.

Two plays later from the 15, quarterback David Sebek went back to pass, could find no receiver and circled right end for the touchdown. The extra point attempt failed and Rogers led 6-0 midway in the first quarter.

The two teams battled the remainder of the first half with neither team able to reach pay dirt.

Rosebud moved to the Rogers six yard line but were plagued by a fumble.

Midway through the third period, Rosebud took a punt on the 25 and moved in 19 plays to the Eagle 13 yard line. Marek darted 43 yards on the drive and then went off right guard for 13 yards and the first Rosebud touchdown.

Quarterback Charles Belson scored the second Rosebud TD with 4:30 left in the game. He circled right end on a keeper play from 22 yards out. The touchdown cinched a 69 yard drive.

Sebek led the Eagles on their last TD try reaching the Rosebud 31 before Spivey intercepted a Sebek pass and Rosebud ran out the clock.

Mike Mayfield led the Rogers offensive attack as he carried eight times for 45 yards.

A Test We Gladly Take

Cameron's unique experience and opportunity in the Tuesday Cameron Economical Development Council soon will be evaluated for presentation at Texas Industrial Conference at Texas A&M University.

It will be a 30-minute program on the two-day industrial seminar. So not only did Harry Clark and Texas Industrial Commission experts, industrial experts from rail lines and utilities, and East Texas Chamber and Texas Tourist Development enlighten us, but they carry this experience to that conference as the basis for a two-year TIC program throughout Texas.

Cameron's support at the day-long conference was commendable in the number of community leaders and citizens from a wide array of organizations and businesses who attended. Capping the event was another Town Meeting of considerable enthusiasm.

Cameron was told that industrial locating agencies "play favorites" when proper consideration is given to the type of industrial prospects a community can serve, both present payroll and new, and when the proper factors are at work in making the industrial climate inviting to new or expanding industry.

Cameron was first to enjoy the splendid array of talent organized by TIC for this community experiment. Most of the speakers have thus re-established an understanding of Cameron's community needs and interests or have increased their understanding of what Cameron can and wants to do.

We, as a community, are fortunate to have thus been tested and we, as a community, have responded with interest and attendance that should herald continued development in the Milam Community.

Youth Calls The Tune

We are told that, for better or worse, ours is a youth-oriented culture. Evidence as to the growing influence of the younger set has been steadily accumulating. In view of recent items in the news, we can no longer have the slightest doubt:

• The rock and roll tempo of the teen-agers has brought about a minor revolution in the world of fashions. By enlivening the usually staid fashion show, it has managed to do what nothing else has accomplished. Fashion models in a frenzied dance testify to the seemingly endless influence of the Beatles.

• The lively rhythms of youth have apparently established another first for Madison Avenue. A shoe retailer is selling records which do no more than advertise a line of shoes for boys and another for girls. Teenagers hearing the Mersey-sound commercials on the radio sent in so many requests for the jingles that the company decided to sell the discs directly through its retail outlets.

• Even the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) in Washington, ear to the ground, decided if it wanted to enlist youth in the fight against poverty it had better reach the teen-agers in their own language. It produced a television spectacular, titled, "It's What's Happening, Baby." The rock and roll show had the month's third highest TV rating. With some 10,000 responses in hand, the OEO is preparing a second production.

Startled adults will doubtless find their voices drowned amid the ecstatic cries and the Liverpool beat of the present-day teen-age world. Youth is calling the tune, and cash registers are keeping pace with the bobbing heads and stamping feet. Advertisers, not missing a beat, are reporting all systems go-go.

Special Session Still Possible

AUSTIN

Texas voters, by decisively defeating a proposed constitutional amendment to increase the number of State Senate seats from 31 to 39, removed one possible reason for a special legislative session this year.

Federal courts control two other legal issues which could require lawmakers to come back to the capitol for another 1965 powwow.

Since no senatorial districting act had been passed at the regular session, adoption of the amendment would have meant a virtually automatic special session call to decide how the eight additional Senate districts were to be divided.

Proponents of the defeated proposal promptly tagged its rejection a loss for rural areas.

Eight metropolitan counties accounted for enough votes to block it in the light-turnout, Sept. 7, election. But some rural areas voted against it, too.

Thirteen incumbent Senators will be jammed together into six districts under court-ordered senatorial districting.

The amendment, if adopted, would have given all incumbents a chance to retain their jobs. Now, at least seven Senate veterans are certain to be eliminated at the polls next year.

Suits challenging Congressional and House of Representatives re-districting by the 59th Legislature and attacking constitutionality of the poll tax still could require a special session.

Congressional redistricting case was heard by a special three-judge federal court at Houston last Thursday. Same court also conducted a pre-trial hearing on the legislative re-apportionment suit. A ruling that either act is unconstitutional conceivably could carry with it a mandate that lawmakers redo their work before the filing deadline for the 1966 election.

If the poll tax is outlawed, Texas will be left without a voter registration act. That is, unless the federal court, which will hear the case here in mid-November, decrees some sort of emergency plan for 1966 elections.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, continuing his opposition to the federal government's suit to ban the poll tax, last week fired off letters to all congressmen asking them for evidence to support their findings (in 1965 Voting Rights Act) that the Texas levy violates constitutional rights.

State Board of Education has accepted administrative ground rules for participating in new U.S. elementary - secondary education act which will bring about $60,000,000 in federal funds to public schools.

At the same time the board approved proposals to triple Texas' migrant school pilot program to reach 18,000 children in 40 districts. It also set up special programs for at least 3,000 adult migrants.

Children whose families follow the crops will get intensive, six-months schooling. Adults participating will receive basic education and training in fundamental homemaking and occupational skills.

Board named Ben R. Howell of El Paso its vice chairman to replace Emerson Stone of Jacksonville who resigned. Successor to Stone, who represented Anderson, Cherokee, Grimes, Henderson, Houston, Madison, Montgomery, Nacogdoches, Polk, San Jacinto, Trinity and Walker Counties on the board, will be appointed at the agency's November meeting.

Forty-five districts were warned of accreditation violations. Eagle Pass district was officially notified it will lose accreditation next July 1 unless substantial progress is made. Eagle Pass Supt. J. I. James assured board the district already is hastening to correct shortcomings.

STATE SURPLUS GROWING
State government started its new fiscal year on September 1 solidly in black. Surplus was $136,300,000, according to Comptroller Robert S. Calvert. This is nearly $40,000,000 more than previously estimated.

State revenue for the fiscal year was $1,800,000,000—$150,000,000 more than the year before.

WATER SUITE FILED
Altus, Okla., attacked constitutionality of new Texas law prohibiting transportation of underground water to another state in federal court suit filed here.

City had approved $2,000,000 in bonds to develop underground water supply on the Texas side of the Red River before the Legislature passed a law to ban pipeline water across the state boundary.

TEXAS SAFETY PROJECTS
Texas leads in projects and expenditures designed to promote safety on federal aid highways. Office of Highway Safety, Bureau of Public Roads, announced the achievement through the vacation White House here. Twenty-seven Texas high-accident safety improvement projects have been programmed totalling more than $13,400,000.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED
Gov. John Connally named Jerry M. Kolder of Amarillo to membership on the Texas Youth Council. He succeeds Robert S. Tate of Austin, recently named to the new Mental Health and Mental Retardation Commission. Connally also announced these appointments:

V. F. (Doc) Neuhaus of Mission, J. H. Bain of Stockdale and C. E. (Sonny) Bentley of Abilene to the Finance Commission of Texas.

Hector Moreno of San Antonio to the State Board of Pharmacy. H. A. Albert of Austin, John I. Dismar of Houston, Dee E. Wheeler of Fort Worth, Clayton Evans of Austin, L. R. Wynn of Amarillo and Joe Low of Dallas to the new Polygraph Examiners Board.

Dr. William J. Kemp of Haskell to the State Board of Dental Examiners.

Governor reappointed Dr. Sam H. Rabon of Kingsville to the Dental Examiners Board; Roy Wiese of Brenham to Pharmacy Board; Dr. Richard L. Stratton of Cuero, D. S. Riley of Big Spring and Jose R. DeLeon of Corpus Christi to the Hospital Licensing Advisory

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Outlast Cities Because Of Rusting Pipes
Philosopher Claims Small Towns Will

Dear editor:

Every once in a while there's a move on in this country to do something to "save the small towns," and while I doubt there's anything that can be done to keep a town from going under if it's being abandoned anyway, I have looked around in a very limited way and can't find any that are disappearing.

I'll admit some towns aren't what they used to be, but a lot of them never were in the first place. On the other hand, most of them are better off today than they were 25 years ago, but if they're smart they'll keep this to themselves and let the cities keep on growing and multiplying their problems.

As a matter of fact, the more

I read of the problems of big cities, the more I doubt they'll outlast the towns. Just because a man is growing fat doesn't mean he's going to live longer.

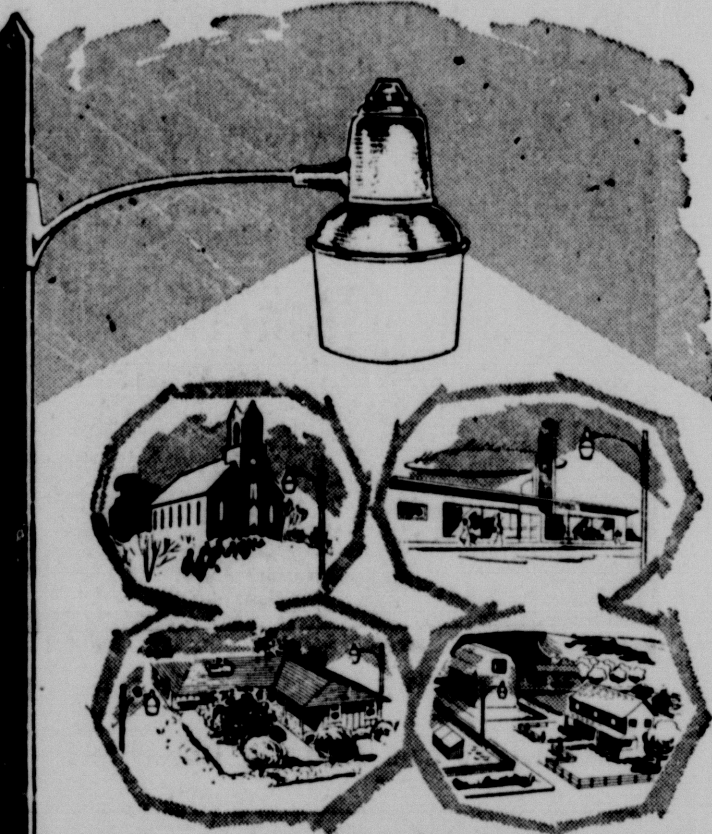

Take just one aspect of big city life you don't hear mentioned much: plumbing. I never have seen a water pipe that'd last forever, at least one won't around this Johnson grass farm, and have you ever stopped to think what the cities are going to be faced with 50 or 100 years from now when the time comes to rip out all the water pipes and put in new ones? You ever tried to put new pipes in a 40-story building? How many miles of city streets will have to be dug up to put in new water mains? I understand New York has a crew of 50 men doing nothing but going around town checking for water main leaks.

Instead of worrying about their own survival, small towns ought to be worrying about cities. You can lose a small town here and there without noticing, but you let a big city give up and have all the people move out and it'll overwhelm every small town within a 100-mile radius. If Cameron is smart, it'll start doing something to save Waco.

Big cities remind me of some big farmers. In some areas of the country they've grown so big they've gone broke.

Yours Faithfully

Letters

Dear Mr. Luecke:

I had a delightful visit to Cameron recently and enjoyed reading the articles in your paper regarding the early homes and the bandstand.

The pictures made me recall happy experiences as a child in the late nineteenth century there.

I remembered Mr. John B. McLane's home because he taught the Westminster Shorter Catechism to a group of children in the old Presbyterian Church near his home.

One spring day his family gave a party for the class. We picked strawberries in his garden. We did not soil our clothes because cottonseed hulls had been placed between the rows of plants.

When we entered the dining room, I was amazed to see berries, piled high with sugar and cream already prepared. I thought that we would be served the same berries that we had picked.

On Children's Day at Church, several young girls of the Sunday School classes taught us verses from hymns. One that stayed with me is:

"Take my feet and let them be Swift and beautiful for Thee."

Another lovely home belonged to Mrs. John M. Hefley. Mamma took me there one day to a meeting of the King's Daughters. The Daughters of the King must have been a church guild.

We lived across an alley from the John B. Wolf home. Minnie and I were friends. Miss Nell, her older sister, took us on early morning drives to Ad Hall. She drove Old Stamp, her horse, to a Phaeton. She told us about attending the San Antonio Female College the year before. This building is still in use by a private school. It was also used by Westmoreland College and others.

Someone in Thomas's Drugstore knew books. I was exposed early to stories and pictures of Greece, Italy, the Rhine, and the lakes of Europe. One day Mamma and I were walking to the cemetery where my little brother and sister were buried. On the way I was fascinated with the jail building. To me it looked like a castle. Mamma took me inside to call on a family she knew named Campbell who were managers of the jail.

When it was time for me to start to school, my father took me one Sunday morning to a side door of Dr. Cass's home where I was to be vaccinated for smallpox. Dr. Cass must have been a perfectionist because I have had many compliments, and even exemptions when traveling, on my dainty vaccination scar from Dr. Cass.

Of course, the home that reminds me of the deep South and especially of Atlanta is the Tom Henderson home, now occupied by the John Hendersons.

My Mother often made ruffled, stiff, pink, chambray bonnets for Miss Ada Henderson and her family. I was thrilled to take the finished bonnets to her; for she loved little children, I didn't know the people, but I knew the name of every family whose home I passed from where we lived to the Hendersons' homes.

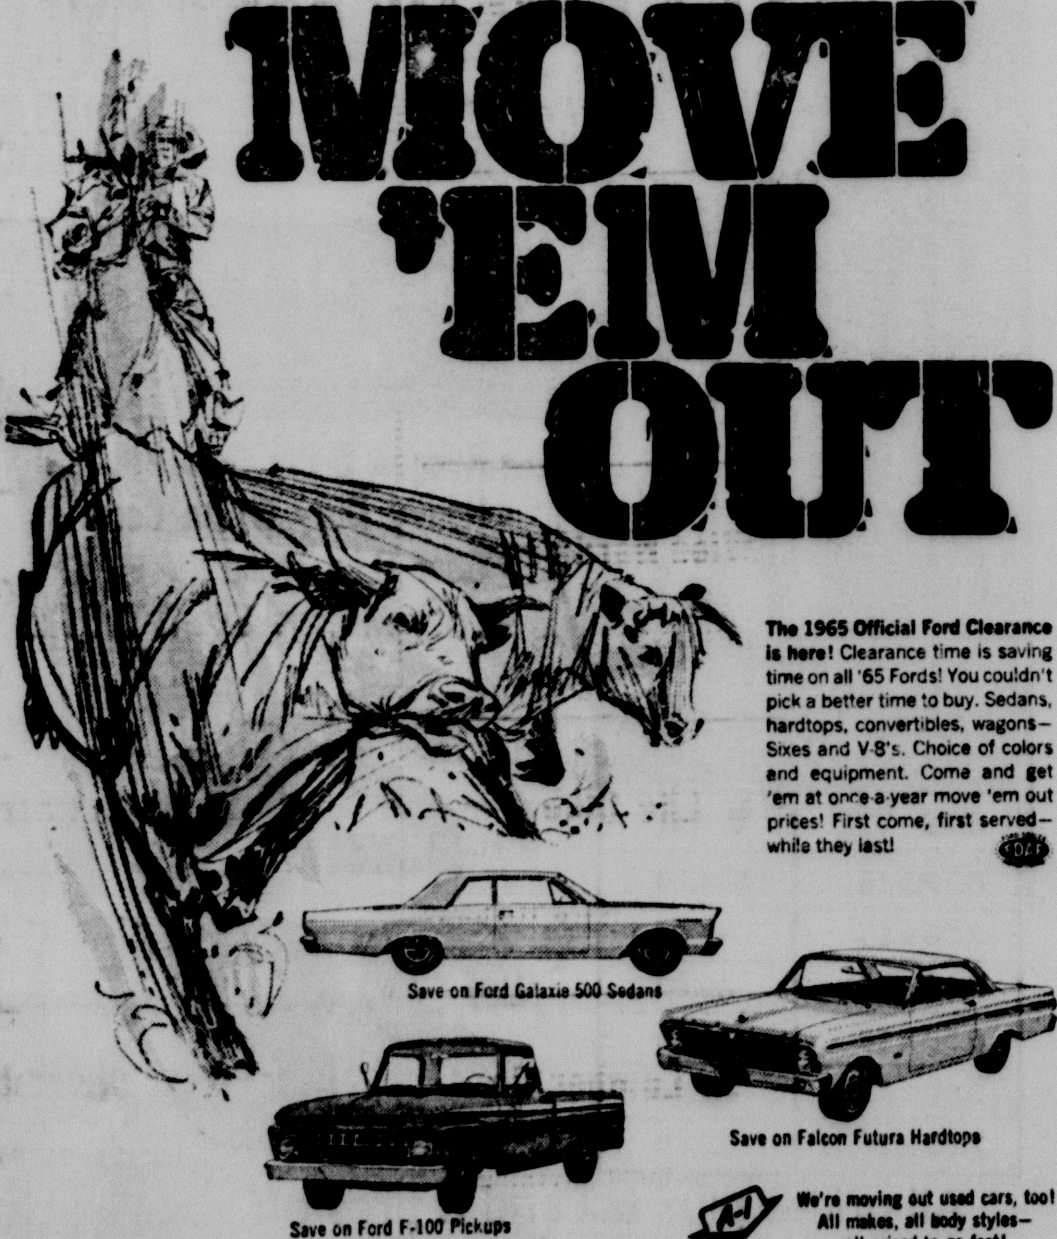

Milam County has always been noted for its distinguished people. Confederate veterans, Texas Rangers, Yankees, jurists, ministers, lawyers and doctors came for land and adventure. They found both. No wonder their homes still stand as tributes to the owners and the builders. Somehow my father's voice would lower in admiration when he presented a home to me; as, "the Padens live here;" "this is the Goodhue Wilson home;" and "the Holtzclaws live in the white house in the distance."

Other early names I can recall that connoted integrity were: the Arnolds, the Browns, the Davises, the Gillises, the Greens, the Graveses, the Hefleys, the Kemps, the Lewises, the McIvers, the Lyles, the McCowns, the Monroes, the Mowdys, the Rubys, the Randles, the Smiths, the Porters, the Sanfords, the Todds and many others.

No wonder one thinks of Cameron and Milam County as Holy ground. One pioneer woman wrote:

"To this glory of sunlit sod
To this wilderness brown and bare
To these unbroken fields of God
We have come."

Cordially yours,
Mrs. Lucy Mae Matthews

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Unwilling Criminal

As you pause at a red traffic light, a stranger leaps into the back seat of your car, presses a gun against your head and snarls: "Get going!"

If you do get going, are you—aside from your other troubles—guilty of a traffic violation for going through a red light?

Obviously not. Although you went through the physical motions of breaking the law, you had no real choice in the matter. You were a toy of circumstance, acting under harsh and overwhelming coercion.

When is coercion an excuse for what would otherwise be a crime? First, the law will consider how intense was the pressure to which you were subjected. It must be severe.

For example, a man who took part in a holdup was excused because he acted under a direct threat of being shot by his companion. But a man who delivered bootleg whiskey was not excused merely because he was afraid of losing his job.

Second, besides the intensity of the pressure, the law will consider how serious was the misconduct you were ordered to commit. Running a red light is not so horrendous a deed that the law cannot afford to overlook it.

But suppose you had been ordered not only to go through the red light but also to run down a luckless pedestrian who happened to be in the path of your car.

That would be a different story. In theory, a few states do accept coercion as an excuse even for homicide. But in fact, such an excuse is rarely accepted in court. At the very least, the law would expect you to take every reasonable chance to avoid the killing of an innocent person.

In one case, for instance, a man on trial for murder protested that he had been commanded to fire the fatal shot. But the court rejected the excuse, saying that instead of firing at the victim, he should have turned the gun on his own threatener.

Said the judge:

"He could not elect a course absolutely safe to himself and lay an innocent man, rather than take some risk."

Fisherman's Dilemma

How often have you heard it argued around camp whether, or not, a hook should be fully covered with the bait?

Leave the barb bare! A naked hook will no more scare away fish than will the hooks on an artificial lure.

Fact is you will snag more fish when the barbs are sharp and bare.

SELF ANALYSIS QUIZ

How Well Do You Know Your Students?

By Jane Sherrod Singer

Horace Mann, the great educational leader, said, "The teacher who is attempting to teach without inspiring the pupil with a desire to learn is hammering on cold iron." But before we can motivate students we must know with what we are working. Here are some key questions which may help

- | | YES | NO |
|--|-----|-----|
| 1. Do you make an effort to meet the parents of your children? | () | () |
| 2. During class, do you do most of the talking? | () | () |
| 3. Do you think children are funny? | () | () |
| 4. Do you adhere to a strict time schedule? | () | () |
| 5. Are you shocked when children use words or thoughts that are contrary to yours? | () | () |
| 6. Do you use many channels through which children may express themselves (i.e. drawing, poetry, music, games, etc)? | () | () |
| 7. Are you aware of the health problems of your students (poor hearing or eyesight, general physical weakness)? | () | () |
| 8. Do you show your preference for a certain child or group over the rest of the class? | () | () |
| 9. Are you teaching because you have to? | () | () |
| 10. Do you agree with the statement that "children should be seen and not heard"? | () | () |

DESIRABLE ANSWERS:

- YES: The attitudes and behavior of parents contributes greatly to those of their children. A good teacher should know how the parents behave all the time, not when they are wearing their "Sunday Best" manners.
- NO: Too many teachers talk on like a broken record. How can you know your students if they have no opportunity to speak their minds.
- NO: To laugh at children is the surest way to stunt their intellectual growth. Think of your own reaction. You like people to laugh with you but not at you.
- NO: Children's ideas are more important than the clock. Within a general necessary time schedule, be flexible.
- NO: If you show you are shocked (and perhaps use punishment) the ideas are driven inward and grow there. Give children the right to express themselves, and then lead them in the path you believe to be right.
- YES: Not all children are linguistic, but you can get to know them through many other means of expression.
- YES: A sick body or a sick mind, like a broken vessel, must be mended before it will retain that which you put into it.
- NO: Being human, a teacher is bound to be attracted to certain children. The art lies in not showing it or you will lose the rest of the class.
- NO: A good teacher must like what he or she is doing and believe sincerely in the values of young people and education.
- NO: If the children are only seen, a teacher can only know the exterior. They must be heard in order to know their souls.
